Three of the greatest of Americans were born during February. The birthdays of two are national holidays, but the natal day of the third is ignored. Washington and Lincoln are dead; Edison still lives.
A genius is not without full honor save while he lives.

A hundred years from now Edison will stand mountain high. For the present three things mitigate against his fame.

First, between him and us no rose-tinted years stretch. He is very much with us and even makes rather a fool of himself on as Washington and Lincoln no doubt did a time or two in their lives.

Second, he is not a politician, and we in this country reserve our highest rewards for the politician and his agent, the soldier. Third, he is a scientist, which is to say he is one who knows things. Most of us do not know things and do not want to

Since man learned to write he has taken delight in dilignently pushing his pen on the subject of woman, her corsets, her skirts, short or long, her hair dressing, hats, expanse of white throat, hare arms, ankles and her conceit. God forbid, if woman ever had more of this than the average man! Now the trend of criticism is toward ther failure as a wife, cook, house-keeper and mother. Poor girl—it's about time somebody came to the front in her defense.

It may be that the daughters of the idle rich marry without training or knowledge of the duties of a housewife, but it is upon the average young woman we will turn the spotlight for a moment. It is but a few years since the close of the war—can we forget so soon, particularly these busy scripblers, the part woman took in the world's affairs at that time? The miles of socks she knitted, garments she made, supplies she helped to send to France, her economy, the clever menus she provided for her family in the stress of high prices, her untiring effort of doing her "bit" each day, besides caring for her household, her babies and her husband—all of this provided subjects for newspapers and magazines throughout the nation. Of those who stayed at home, what did the average man do in comparison to this? What they did NOT do would fill a book, for but faw made any

The city directorate probably will formally grant permission tomorrow and actual work on the stadium will start soon thereafter. It is to be finished in time for the college football season in October. The site is in the Arroyo Seco, north of Brockside Park.

An informal dicussion of the proposed municipal bond issues was held by the city directors to-day but no definite program was agreed upon. The directors probably will decide some time this week as to the date of the bond election and the size of the valous issues to be placed before the voters. The issues in contemplation include items for the extension of the city park system in the Arroyo Seco and elsewhere: for the opening up of more cross-town streets and possibly for a municipal anditorium.

One of the players who should have gone out evidently did not understand and stayed in. Some one in this crowd of boys—I think they called themselves the Stanford team. This discovery was made just after U.S.C. had been thrown back for a five-yard loss and the count stood ten yards to go and fourth down. We all started yelling to the U.S.C. team that there were twelve men on the Stanford side. Leadingham held up his hands to us to stop yelling so that his signals could be heard. Finally one of the boys, seeing we were not understood, had a bright idea. He said: Til be the yell leader and we'll yell in unison.' So, with him leading, we began to yell. Twelve men, twelve men,' until we made ourselves understood. Sure enough, they made a count and found twelve men. Jerry Abbott was the official that day, and even he did not know the penalty. A rule book was hunted up and U.S.C. was given halfway to the Stanford goal and given first down. With a couple of split bucks they carried the ball over and to victory. I will say that that was a game the spectators at least helped to win.

"This is just a suggestion that you gather scraps of news on foothall and give it to us as long as possible.

Twelve men on the field cost the Poets a touchdown and a game and enabled Occidental, I believe, to retain the State championship. A Whittier reserve was ordered out and had barely stepped on the field when Quarterback Abbott, pulling the "cussing play," got away and ran to a touchdog a. He was called back because of the twelfth man, although size latter as not yet in action, the game ended in a draw and the "life." The Stanford case mytioned was different. The twelfth man actually in action for veral minutes, nobody knows just how long, when the concentrated i that the Cardinal personnel had been padded. With the numerous seen oftener.

If you had 35 million dollars

What You Could Do. With It Today in Los Angeles

Suppose you had thirty-five million

Suppose you could buy Palos Verdes Estates-twenty-five square miles of the most exquisite seashore area in the Los Angeles coastline, for five million of dollars, or $312 per acre. Suppose you spent thirty millions more in developing this property to an average sales value of $50 a front foot, 208 feet deep, and sold the whole business.

You would receive one hundred and ten million dollars, at this low valuation. Your gross profit would be $75 .-000,000, or more than 200 per cent. That is what millions of dollars can do. It is what you might do if you had these millions and were trained in their management-and you can share in the advantages of this enterprise on exactly the same basis of profit as mough you controlled the entire thirty five millions. In the underwriting of the development of Palos Verdes Estates, your opportunity is equal to that of anyone in the world.

What Palos Verdes IS

First, the In the very center of the Property great Los Angeles seaside district, and the only large seashore area for twenty-five miles now held intact, are Palos Verdes Estates sixteen thousand acres rising softly from the sea in great natural terraces—with many finger tips reaching into the ocean to form little bays and crescents, and a landward slope reaching up to 1400 feet before broadening down again to Los Angeles city level city roads and city car tracks. Nowhere on the coast is the prospect more beautiful. Because of a turn in the coastline, Palos Verdes faces the sea on two sides with the merchant fleet and battleships of Los Angeles harbor just to the south, and for thirty miles up and down the coast, cities of homes.

This wonderful residential and business area is now being underwritten, and this is the outline of Palos Verdes development.

Go and see the Model of Palos Verdes and Greater Los Angeles-Second Floor, Philharmonic Building, 5th and Olive Streets.

If you can do so, go Second, the Development today, or in the evening, and see the great model, made to exact scale, of Palos Verdes and Greater Los Angeles, from mountains to ocean, filling Choral Hall on the second floor of the Philharmonic Building, 5th and Olive streets. If you cannot go, write for the Book of Palos Verdes, which contains photographs of this unusual model. Either way, you will see the bold and beautiful design of Palos Verdes, as worked out by expert city builders.

The average cost of the developed land, after deducting one-third the total area for parks, clubs, roadways and other public improvements, will be less than $15 a front foot, 208 feet deep. An average value of $50 a front foot is scarcely half that of assessed valuation in Long Beach, Hermosa Beach and other suburban cities north and south along the shore. The underwriters and owners of Palos Verdes will divide the profits from the improved Palos Verdes properties as underwriters always do. Who are these underwriters and owners?

How to Become an Underwriter

Third, the

Virtually every busi-Underwriting ness project of size is underwritten by men who subscribe their credit and whatever actual money is necessary. The completed project is sold to the general public at its completed value, and the underwriters divide the profits, often, in Los Angeles, from 100 to 700 per cent gross profit on the subscription. That is exactly the Palos Verdes plan with the additional advantage that subscriptions in moderate amounts will be received. Palos Verdes is the only underwriting project of this general nature that is opened for general investment, and in which the general public may participate through subscriptions held in trust by the Title Insurance and Trust Company, Trustee. You can subscribe to Palos Verdes a moderate sum, with deferred payments, on exactly the same terms as though you subscribed the whole thirty-five million dollars.

A Fact of Large Importance

Furthermore, you may subscribe either to acquire a portion of the developed property at its actual pro-rated cost, or you may subscribe to the underwriting alone, and participate in all underwriting profits without acquiring land-a most important feature for non-residents or those seeking pure investment. In other words, your subscription entitles you to either of Trust Indenture: First, a Convertible Note, payable on-improved lands at cost; second, a Non-convertible Note, entitling you to pro-rata receipts from available lands and assets until the full face of the note is paid and thereafter 90 per cent of the profits, save only the fixed fee. All subscriptions go direct to the Title Insurance and Trust Company, and are payable—10 per cent in cash with subscription, and the bal-ance in 36 equal monthly installments with interest at 7 per cent. Thus a subscription of one thousand dollars requires only $100 accompanying it.

Safety

All subscriptions are fully protected: First, all subscriptions are payable to and held by the Title Insurance and

Trust Company, as Trustee, for every dollar subscribed; second, by Trust Indenture, the Title Insurance and Trust Company agrees to hold all subscriptions until the first $15,000,000 is subscribed. Until that time all expenses are borne by the General Manager of Palos Verdes Estates. Can you imagine any protection more complete, or any enterprise more desirable for investment?

How to Proceed

You are earnestly invited to investi-gate Palos Verdes development. If possible, see the great relief model at the Philharmonic Hall, 5th and Olive streets. Certainly tear off the coupon on this page and mail it. You will receive in return the Book of Palos Verdes and full information. Write today. Address,

THREE HELD IN ROBBERY QUIZ.

Series of Hold-ups Laid to Asserted Gang.

Men Arrested Have Police Records, is Charge.

Two Women in Net Will be Freed, Say Officers.

Charged by the police yesterday with having been implicated in a core of bold robberies and said to have been identified as the of Grauman's Rialto Theater and escaped with more sation.

The prisoners, all said to have police records, gave the names of George Hale, Archie Sneed and Russel W. Jeffries. With them, the police arrested two women known as "Babe" Jeffries and Bernice Srofe. Both the women deny all connection with the charges against the three men and probably will be released.

From the information in the hands of the police, it appears that the three men are thought to have been involved in the hold-up of the Crown Laundry on Paloma street, where $4000 was taken, as well as the robberies of several collectors working for the Sam Seelig stores and the Raiph Grocery Company. The men are also thought to have been implicated in several cigar store hold-ups.

Detective Sergeants Davidson, who made all of the arrests in a South Flower-street rooming-house early yesterday morning, declared that Hale had been identified by several clerks from the Risito Theater as one of the bandits who robbed them. Other persons who are believed to have been victims of the gang will be called upon to make lidentifications tomorrow.

Records in the police identifica-tion bureau show, the police say, that Hale, Jeffries and Sneed all have police records and have been arrested before. "Babe" Jeffries, the police say, was arrested some the police say, was arrested some time ago in connection with the robbery of a bank in San Jose. She was later released. Hale and Jeffries, the police say, have both been under investigation before. In almost every hold-up believed by the police to have been the work of the men now in jail a large red automobile was used by the bandits. An automobile answering the description of the one used by the highwaymen and believed to be owned by Jeffries was found by the police in a private found by the police in a private

A force of prohibition agenta, headed by C. H. Wheeler and F. A. Hezeltine, made a descent up-on the Gai Winery on the San of Glendals, yesterday, and set The proprietors, Giovanni Gai, and

The Gai Winery is one of the best known in Southern California and the property is said to be worth not less than $150,000. The following liquors were selead by the prohibition agents, they report: Fifty gallons of moonshine brandy; fifty puncheons containing 160 gallons of claret on which the tax had been paid; forty-nine puncheons, each containing 160 gallons of claret wine, on which the tax had been paid; forty-nine puncheons, each containing 160 gallons of claret wine, on which the tax had not been paid; it is said, and 1800 gallons of sherry made in the last grapegrowing season. The forty-nine puncheons hiso were of wine made during the season of 1921.

Agents went to the winery a few days ago and paid $200 for a delivery of both wine and brandy, they assert, using marked money that has since been recovered. It is declared that the Gai Winery has been doing a land-office business in the sale of intoxicating liquors. Glovannia Gai is one of the best-known wine makers in the San Fernando Valley. Campanella is said to be a new member of the firm.

The entire capture amounts to say nothing of brandy, also manufactured from grapes. Complaints were made against the accused and they will be arraigned before Commissioner Long this morning.

Some of the bodies which were taken to the morgue at Newport News on the evening of the disaster have already been sent to their homes, but the funeral service in that city will be in honor of those who died in the wreck. A chaplain from Fortress Monroe will read the service for the army; civil sites will be carried out under the leadership of several local ministers, and a few brief tributes to the men, with music by military bands, will close the caremony. The caskets will be placed side by side, each draped by the flag for whose honor the occupant died, and each covered with the floral tributes of the city, the American Legion and friends and relatives.

MANILA, Peb. 23.—Enactment of the entire financial program recommended by Gov.-Gen. Wood was completed with the passage by an extra session of the Legislature of bills crowded out in the closing hours of the regular session. These included a concurrent resolution authorizing the Governor-General to represent the Philippine government in urging upon President Harding and Congress the advisability of increasing the debt limit of the Philippine government from $15,000,000 to $75,000,000, it was said that the proposed maximum is less than 10 per cent of the assessed valuation of Philippine property and below the limit of virtually every other government in the world.

RESUME PUBLIC WORK.

Gov. Wood expressed satisfaction with the enactment of the financial program, saying it now would be possible to put Prilippine finances on a sound foundation. The legislation, he said, would also permit resumption of public works, including improvement of the port of Manila. RESUME PUBLIC WORK.

Among bills passed was one authorizing a bond issue for the establishment of a gold standard fund with which to maintain the parity of the Philippine silver pesso with the gold-standard pesso. Another bill authorized a bond issue to establish the parity of Treasury certificates with the silver pesso. 33.—After waiting for his change for twenty-seven years, Charles Wagner, a Spokane dairyman, has received a check for $9.60 from the Federal govern-ment. In 1895 Wagner filed on a homestead near Post Palls, Idaho. The Land Office was in doubt as to the filing fee, and requested that Wagner pay a sum considerably in excess of usual requirements. He was told found that he paid too much. Recently he was notified to file his claim for the $9.50, and yesterday he received the check. Others Falls are reported to be re-celving similar checks.

new economic principle to govern peace-time maintenance of all branches of the Army regulars. National Guard or organized reserves, was laid today by Gen. Pershing before the House subcommittee on army appropriations. Gen. Pershing's statement did not deal with specific questions as to the strength of the Regular Army during the coming fiscal year, the officer saying, however, that in view of a possible reduction in Army strength, consideration of the development of a national army from an economical standpoint became especially important.

The general's statement concluded the hearings of the committee, and it is expected to be prepared to submit its report in about a week.

After pointing out that the Regular Army was relatively small at present and limited in numbers, first by the existing Army Organization acts, Gen. Pershing said that the following economic principle might be stated as to the military organization the country should maintain:

In this connection, he said, that while the main obstacle to application of this principle was that military training in the United States is entirely voluntary, increasing interest was being manifested in the National Guard and the reserve, as well as in the military training camps.

Still another principle he laid down was as follows: "In training the citizen army we should emplay as many reserve officers and noncommissioned officers as possible as student instructors and staff personnel in our training camps and other training establishments."

In relation to this, he stated that full development of the system he was broadly picturing "cannot be carried out by the Regular Army alone, even at its present size, nor is it advisable that all instructions of the Regular Army, he laid down this principle: "That portion of the Regular Army not required for general overhead purposes shall be formed into two separate forces, one composed of training organizations, distributed in the several corps areas, and the other an expeditionary force composed of Regular Army units at effective strength ready for immediate service and stationed according to convenience for service."

ENCOURAGE PURCHASE OF SMALL ACREAGES.

OF SMALL ACREAGES.

COUNTRY HOMES SHOULD BE AS WELL APPOINTED AS CITY DWELLINGS.

FRANCISCO, Feb. 23.-Country homes, while continuing their association with the orchard, the meadow, the deep-tangled wild-wood, should be as modern and as well appointed as city homes, John William Gregg, landscape architect in the department of agriculture of the University of California, told the Commonwealth Club tonight. The meeting was under direction of the land settlement committee of the club, and was called to devise a plan whereby persons with moderate incomes will be encouraged to purchase small acreages in the central and coast portions of the State.

A forty or eighty-acre farm should have five acres set aside for the homestead and farm buildings. Mr. Gregg said. The home should be on rolling land and as close to the, highway as possible. A half acre at least should be given over to the lawn. Shade trees should be light on the south and east and massive on the north and west.

MISUNDERSTOOD TERM BASIS OF WIFE'S SUIT.

CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—Misunder-standing of the legal term, "inter-locutory decree," forms the basis of a suit for annulment of her mariocutory decree." forms the basis of a suit for annulment of her marriage to Walter A. Mehl of San Francisco filed in the Superior Court today by Mrs. Marion E. Mehl. The Mehls were married Oct. 7, 1915. A month before she had been granted an interiocutory divorce decree from Raymond J. Warner in San Francisco. She understood, it is said, that interiocutory meant that she and her husband were prohibited from speaking to each other.

Later, Mrs. Mehl says, she found that it meant "that they were prohibited from speaking to anyone else with matrimonial intentions for one year," and consequently the decree did not become final until Sept. 15, 1916, and her marriage to Mehl was iflegal.

Incidents of the session indicated that many obscure or irresponsible brokerage houses have been fighting the recent advance in the stock market. controversy to an end and thus open up for industrial purposes the most valuable part of the harbor frontage.

The property in question was long known as the Miner's Fill, from the fact that it consists of submerged tideland which was reclaimed and on which the Outer Harbor Dock and Wharf Company, which took over the lease held by Capt. Randolph Huntington Miner, built docks that are an important part of the port facilities.

The lease to Capt. Miner was given by the city of San Pedro in 1906, before the harbor district was annexed to Los Angeles. In 1911 the State granted to the city the right to all tideland at the harbor. In 1911, the city brought suit to test its rights to land held under the Miner lease. Superior Judge Meyer in 1919 handed down a decision which awarded some of the land to the city and some to the company. The latter appealed to the Supreme Court, where the case is still pending, but which will be dropped when the pending agreement is finally approved.

Assistant City Attorney Ciyde M. There will be no trans-Pacific rate war among steamship lines operating passenger lines to the Orient. This was the statement made yesterday by W. A. Young. A new and important provision of the Revenue Act of 1921 is that where a corporation is formed or availed of to prevent the imposition of a surfax upon its stockholders by permitting its profits to accumulate instead of being distributed as dividends, it may be subject to a tax of 25 per cent in addition to the normal tax of 10 per cent imposed on corporations. The stockholders, however, may agree with the Commissioner of Internal Revenue that the profits of the corporation shall be charged to them in the same manner as the distributive share of the partners, and pay the tax as partners.

Commodity prices on the average are apparently approaching a normal level after war-time inflation and the corresponding deflation which reached its lowest point last year.

During the period of May, 1820, to July, 1921, deflation was consistent and rapid and a drop of the United States Department of Labor and by charts and graphs drawn from such figures. It looks as though the readjustment period is giving way to genuine stabilization and that economic writers will find less necessity, from now on, to qualify their statements and estimates.

One of the most interesting and illuminating of these charts to come to Trade Talk's deak was worked up by the President's conference committee of the rall'roads, and published by Dwight P. Robinson & Co., an engineering and constructing firm of New York and Los Angeles.

This chart goes back to 1860 and includes within its recept, farm products, food, cloths and clothing, fuel and lighting, metals and metal products a lumber and building material, chemicals and drugs, house furnishing goods and a miscellaneous group.

Fixing the average price for the year 1914 at 190 per cent, the start is made in 1850 at 105 per cent. In 1853-1854. Then follows a steady decline to 187 per cent in 1871; followed by a rise to 142 per cent a year later; then another lear period of declining prices to a level of 99 per cent in 1871; followed by a rise to 142 per cent a year later; then another lear period of declining prices to a level of 99 per cent in 1871. followed by a rise to 142 per cent a year later; then another lear period of declining prices to a level of 99 per cent in 1871. followed by a rise to 142 per cent and then the bottom gradually recedes from the commodity market until the zero hour is reached in 1896 at 66 per cent.

NEW TORK, Feb. 28. — The stock market today rose almost steadily in its early and intermediats stages to higher levels on the largest and most varied dealings of the year, but fell sharply in the final hour. The reaction followed an advance in call money from 8 to 4 per cent.

Gains ranging from large fractions to 1½ points were made at the outset. Advances were extended to as much as 6 points before profit-taking and the money flurry made pronounced impression.

A large part of the increased business evidently issued from professional sources, and orders received by commission houses over the heliday. These were augmented by short coverings, especially in steels equipments and oils.

Many of those issues achieved highest prices of the year, United States Steel being the most control of the ing another new top at 4.41 1-4, as much as 4.42 being quetted for cables, all continental rates moved with remittances on London, excepting the Belgian and Dutch billis, these reacting 6 and 8 points, respectively.
